

However, North India witnessed normal cargo handling on Tuesday at Azadpur, its biggest fruit and vegetable wholesale market or mandi.

Truck operators are pressing for a reduction in fuel prices and a uniform national pricing with quarterly revision.

Due to the ongoing strike, trade worth ₹70 billion has been affected in Tamil Nadu, said the All India Motor Transport Congress. Vegetable prices are soaring in various parts of the state, especially in Chennai.

Stocks of textile have piled up in Tirupur, Karur, Erode and other major textile production centres. "The ongoing indefinite lorry strike has impacted Tirupur's knitwear exporting units as they cannot transport the finished garments," said Raja M Shanmugham, president at Tirupur Exporters Association.

Delhi's Azadpur market, however, saw some supply disruption for the first two days. Onion and potato prices have moved up by ₹1-1.5 a kg, but things normalised on Tuesday.

While the West Bengal Truck Owners Association, one of the biggest association of truckers in West Bengal, only passively participated in the strike, price of commodities imported from other states, including, egg, fruits and fish (imported from Andhra Pradesh), has risen by around 10-15 per cent. "While we in-principal took part in the strike, the actual participation was only about 20-30 per cent. We left it to individual truck owners to take a call on the strike," said Alok Chattopadhyay, acting secretary of the organisation.

About 1,50,000 trucks have kept off road in Uttar Pradesh with the total economic loss estimated at about ₹20 billion. Almost 68 trucks of onions, however, arrived at Azadpur on Tuesday, which is normal during this time of the year. The price quoted was between ₹10 and ₹16 a kg. Around 121 trucks of potatoes have arrived too.

Rajkumar Bhatia, a fruit seller in Azadpur and former member of the APMC, said the strike had not impacted supply of fruits in Delhi and the National Capital Region.

The reason could be that transporters have exempted essential commodities. AIMTC spokesperson GP Singh said: "Around 3 per cent leakage (truckers not participating in the strike) is always there."

S P Singh, convenor at Indian Foundation of Transport Research and Training, a counter lobby group to transporters, said it was not a strike and could be called "a disruption".

In the western region, prices have jumped by 50-60 per cent at the wholesale mandi in Vashi near Mumbai. Okra was being sold for ₹100-120 a kg and cau-

The strike has added fuel to fire," said Sanjay Bhujbal, a wholesaler at Vashi APMC.

C Dhanaraj, secretary of the State Lorry Owners Federation (Tamil Nadu), said almost its entire 460,000-strong truck force was off the roads. This is causing a daily loss of ₹3 billion.

G R Shanmugappa, south zone general secretary of the AIMTC, said goods worth ₹70 billion were stuck in various parts of the state.

Reports said tension prevailed at the goods yard in Namakkal railway station.

Vegetable prices at Chennai's Koyambedu market have gone up by 15-20 per cent. Tomato prices have increased by ₹5-25 a kg. Prices of big onions have increased by ₹5-25 a kg, while small onion prices have increased by ₹25-65 a kg. Potato prices have increased by ₹6-25 a kg, green chilli prices have risen by ₹5-35 a kg, and carrot prices have increased from ₹20-25 to ₹50-55 a kg.

To placate striking transporters, the GST Council on Saturday announced a standard procedure for filling up forms under the e-way Bill. It also decided to waive penalty in case of minor mistakes.
